WHY DO WE DO ASTROLOGY?

It's hard for me to realize I've been doing astrology for 49 years. Why does this system of thinking interest me for so long. Is it fortune telling? Is it psychology? Is it even helpful... It is probably the oldest recorded system of thinking, a non denominational system of living. Even if a person does not consult their map, they are living it. And in this highly scientific and technological informational time we are living in, even now, all of our holidays are based on it. Our coming holiday, Easter, is based on the timing of the Spring Equinox and the zero degree Aries point and Christmas is based on the winter Solstice, Dec 21st, Halloween, on the midpoint between the fall and winter solstice, and more. (I've written about this before.)

Because we are on this planet to grow into the reality of What we really are, we are living a reincarnation. One's current chart represents the life and its lessons. That is why there is so much interpretation of the symbols. Each glyph has many positive and negative possibilities. Venus, for example which we think of as a "good" planet symbolizing love, sex, creativity, and art, can also symbolize greed, egotism (self-love), love of self beauty, ease, and greed for money. Our lives are scripted: You didn't have the choice of your sex, your parents, or your gene pool, for example, but we do have free choice. That is, you do have the freedom how to behave, to react, to think. Astrology identifies our options.

In astrology we have a glyph pair that illustrates reincarnation: the North and South Nodes. I have written about them before because they illustrate among other things the amazing mathematical ability the ancient astronomers had without the benefit of telescopes to identify these two astrological glyphs that are not planets but astronomical placements between the Sun and the Moon. Their placement in the chart is as important as their signs.

The North Node is a symbol representing new awareness and possibilities available in this lifetime, a sort of “moving on.” The South Node represents what you didn’t do and should have in a previous life. For example: Suppose you have the North Node in the 10th house, and the South Node in the 4th. This could be a situation where one’s ability to succeed in business must be done without jeopardizing one’s family. In other words attention must be paid to one’s family, house and environment, and early childhood. That means viewing one’s own childhood with understanding and forgiveness. Doing that helps one’s reputation and success.

Trump as reincarnation of King George III

As luck would have it, I have the charts of both Donald Trump and King George III. I suspected this interaction because of similarities between the two lives. The king was in constant wars throughout Europe; He annexed Ireland to Britain; George III's life and reign were marked by a series of military conflicts involving his kingdoms, much of the rest of Europe, and places farther afield in Africa, the Americas and Asia. He lost the colonies in the Revolutionary War; He babbled incoherently, and eventually went crazy. And when I looked at the pictures of the king, I was reminded of Trump's preoccupation with his hair. Also his Florida residence looks like a castle, even with a turret. Even anti-Trumpers call their resistance “No Kings.”

When I looked at their charts side-by-side they looked similar with groups of oppositions and trines. They are both Gemini, they both have Leo Ascendents. Both have many oppositions to their Moon signs. The King has Uranus conjunct his moon, Trump has Uranus conjunct his Sun. Mars conjuncts Trump’s Ascendent; Mars conjuncts George’s Midheaven. They both have Saturn and Venus conjunctions. We are only one year into Trump’s second term. Will his symptoms of emotional disfunction increase as they eventually did for George?

Spring Calendar

Spring has sprung,
The grass has riz.
Winter's gone,
How glad is!

Pluto, our outermost planet is responsible for universal change. It is back in the same position, 5° Aquarius that it was during the Revolutionary War. It is hidden in the 12th house of secrets and hidden doings. It will be in Aquarius for many years and is bringing the new technology of AI. And typical of Pluto there are positive and negative attributes to that.

Neptune has finally moved out of Pisces into Aries! For many years Pisces has been in its own sign bringing the rise of political religion and artiness, avoidance, alcoholism, lack of diligence. Already alcohol use is greatly diminished. It is still in the first house of the US chart, but hopefully now old problems, poverty and the homeless will be addressed, and government officials will not be so easily duped. There are already a couple of states that are moving to taxing the very rich.

Uranus is finally moving into Gemini, or is it? I have a problem: at the end of April Uranus moves to 0° Gemini. 0° is really no place, but 30° Taurus is. So REALLY Uranus doesn't move into Gemini until Aug. 4th to stay for 7 years. What do you think??? Anyway, Uranus is much more compatible with an air sign and can bring significant awareness suddenly if it joins with one of your natal planets. Uranus represents the "water bearer" bringing unexpected news, ideas, intuition, freedoms.

Saturn also has moved out of Pisces and is at 5° Aries. I say "thank God for that!" The last couple of years have been difficult for getting things done. Saturn is bones and sky scrapers, diligence and law abiding. BUT in water.... nothing really gets accomplished except by supreme effort. Look at the U.S. government. In Aries, we can have a fresh start with enthusiasm and energy. But don't go it alone: with Pluto, Uranus and Saturn interacting with each other in a positive way for a short while, things can be accomplished better with others involved.

Jupiter is finally direct! With the outer planets better aligned we have a chance to move forward. Jupiter remains in Cancer until July so the emphasis will likely be on justice, family matters, restoring balance.

Mercury retrograde. Hurrah! Mercury retrograde is over today (March 20th) and we will not have another one until the end of June. Mercury is still in Pisces, however, and not a good place for facts and details. It's water and things get distorted in water. Better to stick to poetry, music, and the arts! If you are unsure about something financial, have an attorney look at it. Ironically, Mercury moves out of Pisces and into Aries on March 16th, after you've sent in your tax return. Have someone review it if there are questions.

June 21st look for the next issue of Longevity Circuit. And BTW if you no longer want to receive it, please respond.

Here is an example of new thought coming during the Minor Grand Trine and beyond. You might say an example of the new Aquarian Age thinking vis-a-vis the Piscean thought.

"Let me clarify one thing, we've had our share of churchianity but we're moving into the actual science of Christianity which is Science of Living. Man is God already crystallized but Man is not a God, this God that has crystallized Himself is the manifestation. God is pure energy, Sound, but in order for It to be observed and interact, It has to crystallize into a manifestation. So "Come let Us," meaning the elements with the sonic resonance together put a manifestation into existence with a dualistic interplay which is called a male and female or attraction/repulsion process based upon the magnetic field as what you call Love. This manifestation is here and now and all the variations of it which you call universe interacting but It's hoping that the individuality will learn how to recognize its totality within the individuality by the many mistakes we'll make until it arrives at the correct opportunity for the individuality to lock in and that is a carbon body going through all the processes and then lock in to the understanding of how the physics works and that's what they call free-man or free-woman Lord of the Self. You don't have a Soul, you are Soul or living soil but living soil is already immortal, that means the atoms are here to stay, it ain't going nowhere. God is here but He's playing the role of individuality and individuality cannot be taken back. Though it's imposed on the elements without consent, the elements are allowed to rebel and then they're allowed to volunteer and that's the compensation. The compensation is when they volunteer, they have a carbon based body which is already setup to be immortal. So you don't own anything, you experience touch which you crave as an element in the form of flesh and then you recognize you're already immortal that you can bring it about in flesh by understanding and then you have free access to the universe as God in Man, not Man in God."
